

By Public Transport

As the office is located in the centre of Brussels, the best way to reach us is by train, metro or tram.

1 By train

From Central Station to the office is a 10-minute walk. Leave the station through Gallery Ravenstein, cross over rue Ravenstein / Ravensteinstraat, walk up the steps at rue Baron Horta / Baron Horta straat (with Bozar on your right), turn right into rue Royale / Koningstraat and walk to place Royale / Koningsplein. Make your way to the archway at the far left corner of the square, where rue de Namur / Naamsestraat begins. After a short climb you will find rue Brederode / Brederodestraat on your left. The office is on your right.

There are three main rail stations: Midi / Zuid (South); Centrale / Centraal (Central - within walking distance: see above) and Nord / Noord (North). All Eurostar trains and Thalys trains terminate at South Station. From South Station take a taxi to the office. Allow 20 minutes from South Station to the office, 30 minutes during rush hour. A single fare costs about 10 EUR.

2 By metro

The office is within 5 minutes' walk from Porte de Namur / Naamsepoort metro station (lines 2 & 6).

In the metro station you take the rue de Namur / Naamsestraat exit. When exiting you are at the beginning of the rue de Namur / Naamsestraat. rue Brederode / Brederodestraat is the third street on your right some 250 metres down the road. The office is on your right.
