Digital solutions

Linklaters offers a broad range of digital services, delivering insights and knowledge, across multiple online channels. Our digital solutions are designed to help your business horizon-spot and comply with ever-changing legal developments and regulation.

Linklaters.com and social media

Our website, linklaters.com, hosts a collection of key information, including access to lawyer contact details and available products and services.

Through the website and our social media channels, we share a wide range of insights to keep you updated on changes in the legal environment and our approach and commitment to corporate responsibility.

Knowledge portal

Available exclusively to our clients, the Knowledge Portal is a free, online subscription service, featuring a library of global legal updates.

Subscribing to the Portal enables you to:

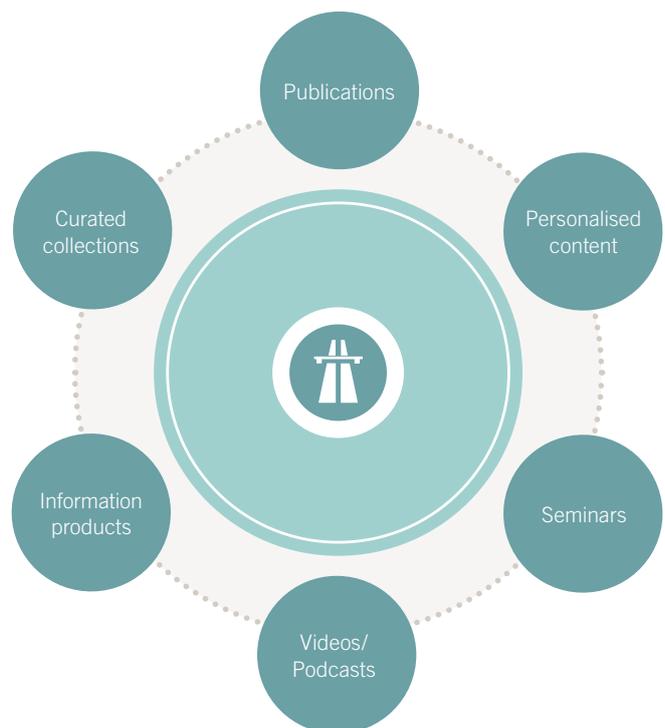

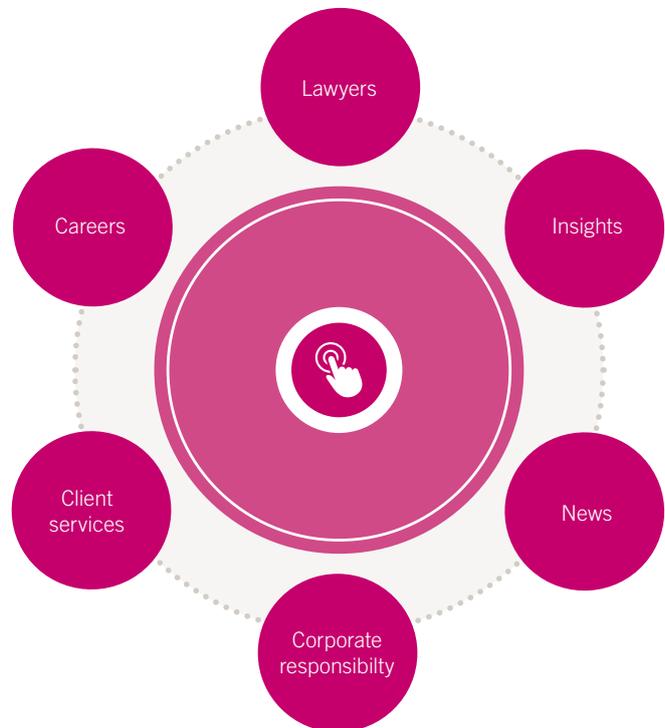

- > search thousands of publications, seminars, microsites and curated collections, including downloadable videos and podcasts
- > customise email update preferences, ensuring you receive content relevant to you, at a frequency that suits
- > access content from your desktop, laptop, tablet or mobile device, meaning you can read, view or listen to the content you need, on the go

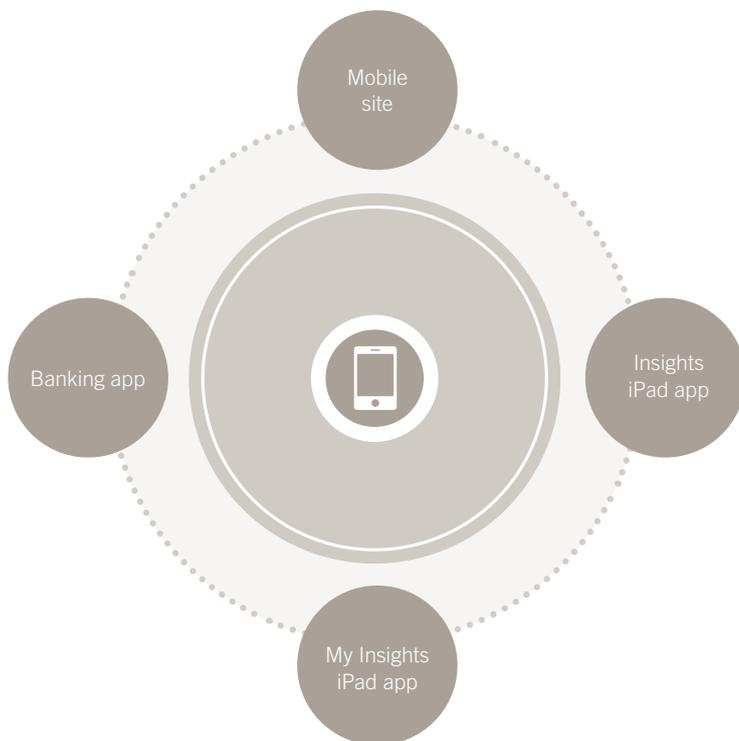

Subscription products

Accessible via the Knowledge Portal, these in-depth products are offered on a subscription basis.

Our core products are MiFID \(Markets in Financial Instruments Directive\) II Gap Analysis, Pensions and SDL Roadmap.

- > MiFID II Gap Analysis – this tool outlines each of the provisions contained within MiFID II and MiFIR, the equivalent MiFID I provision and a summary of the key differences between MiFID I and MiFID II/MiFIR, together with commentary highlighting the key implications of the provisions to MiFID-regulated businesses
- > Pensions – this product is designed specifically for asset managers and custodians, offering information on the legal and regulatory issues that arise in providing investment and custody services to pensions funds, across 17 European jurisdictions
- > SDL Roadmap – in connection with the global roll-out of variation margin requirements for uncleared OTC derivative transactions, market participants will need to complete the ISDA Regulatory Margin Self-Disclosure Letter for regimes applicable both to them and their counterparties. SDL Roadmap brings together guidance in respect of each margin regime covered by the SDL to assist market participants in completing the SDL

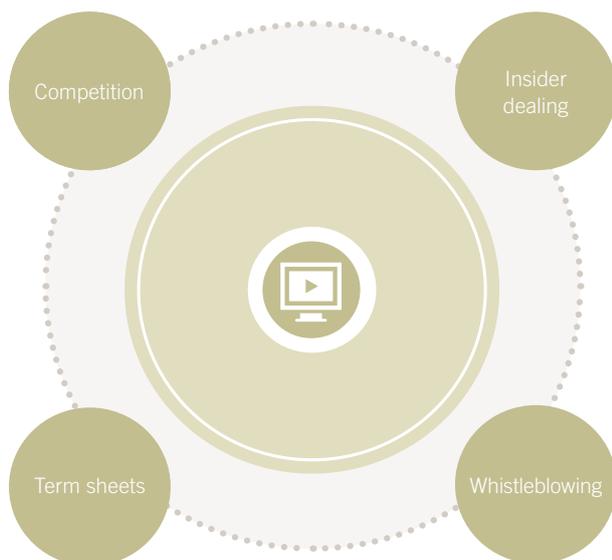

Mobile

To make it easier to access information on the go, we have developed a number of mobile solutions, including a mobile-friendly version of linklaters.com, the Knowledge Portal and a selection of iPad apps.

Linklaters Insights, our iPad app, enables you to explore a selection of key content through a downloadable app. Search for “Linklaters Insights” in the App Store.

My Insights leverages the functionalities from our public Insights app, but can be customised for organisations by adding security, including client branding and providing access to tailored content.

Our Banking app contains a wealth of information, focused on loan products. At your fingertips you will find information to help you structure and execute deals.

eLearning and document automation

We have developed a range of compliance-based eLearning products, providing an efficient way to deliver training to your employees.

Each course offers a highly interactive learning experience through the use of animations, interactive Q&As and video clips and can be customised and translated into other languages.

Current courses include:

- > Competition
- > Insider dealing
- > Whistleblowing

Our document automation tool – Term Sheet Generator – is an innovative service which enables you to create term sheets automatically at your desktop and obtain relevant legal and cross-border information to assist structuring.
